Dedication

On August 13, 1965, Roger J. Traynor will mark his twenty-fifth anniversary as a member of the Supreme Court of California. As the following articles testify, the quality and creativity of his contributions as an appellate judge seldom have been equalled in American judicial history.

Chief Justice Traynor's judicial accomplishments are a source of special pride to the California Law Review and to the University of California School of Law. The Chief Justice is a graduate of Boalt Hall, where in 1927, he was Editor-in-Chief of the Review. In subsequent years he was a member of the Boalt Hall faculty and served, from 1934 through 1937, as the Review's Co-Faculty Editor-in-Chief. His close association with Boalt Hall has continued during his twenty-five years as a supreme court justice. In 1958, the University awarded him an honorary Doctor of Laws. In 1961, he was chosen by the School of Law to deliver the First Annual Walter Perry Johnson Lecture on Law and Public Affairs. In the same year, he and Chief Justice Earl Warren were the first recipients of a special citation for distinguished service to the legal profession by the University of California Law School Alumni Association.

Simultaneously with the dedication of this issue of the Review, Professor Albert Ehrenzweig of the Boalt Hall faculty announces the dedication of his forthcoming book, Conflicts in a Nutshell, to Chief Justice Traynor.

It is with unbounded respect and admiration that the Editors of the California Law Review dedicate this issue to Roger J. Traynor.
